

Part 1: Questions for Business Owners/Managers

Goal → Understand their daily operations, the actual cost of their current system, and whether this problem is painful enough that they would pay to solve it.

Context & Current Workflow:

- Your typical day of managing customer bookings and walk-ins?
- How many customer book ahead of arriving vs arriving directly? (IMPORTANT)
- Currently, what tools or methods are you using to track who is on which machine/slot and for how long?

Uncovering the Pain Points:

- Tell me about the last time a scheduling conflict or double-booking happened. How did you handle it?
- How much time would you estimate you or your staff spend answering the phone just to check availability or take a booking?
- What is the most frustrating part about your current booking process? (IMPORTANT)
- How do you currently handle "no-shows" or last-minute cancellations? (IMPORTANT)

Exploring Solutions & Value:

- Have you ever tried using booking software or a portal before? (If yes: What did you use, and why did/didn't it work? If no: Why haven't you looked into one?)
- If you had a magic wand and could change one thing about how customers interact with your business before they arrive, what would it be?
- How do you currently market your available slots during your slower, off-peak hours?

Part 2: Questions for End Customers (The Gamers/Users)

Goal → Validate if customers actually want an online booking portal, or if calling/walking in is simply a habit they don't mind.

Context & Past Behavior:

- Walk me through the very last time you went to a gaming center or similar venue. How did you decide to go, and how did you secure your spot? (IMPORTANT)
- Before you head to a venue, how do you usually check if they have the equipment or slots you want available?

Uncovering the Pain Points:

- Tell me about a time you went to a venue and had to wait significantly longer than expected, or couldn't get a spot at all. How did that impact your experience?
- What is the most annoying part of planning a trip to a gaming center with a group of friends? (IMPORTANT)
- Have you ever decided not to go to a venue specifically because you couldn't figure out if they had space?

Exploring Solutions:

- When you book other services (like movie tickets, haircuts, or restaurants), what is your preferred method of booking, and why?
- If a gaming center offered a live, real-time view of available PCs or racing rigs on your phone, how would that change your routine?
